Ojaveey (Walleye) Taco from the Tatanka Truck

Anyone who doubts that we're living in a food renaissance should swing by the new Tatanka Truck, which is serving modern takes on Precolonial native cuisine. We tried and greatly enjoyed the earthy, layered flavor of a sun-dried Red Lake walleye fillet served on a native corn and bean bread with wogaji (a tart berry sauce).

Pistachio-Pumpkin Seed-Coconut-Cherry Granola from Gustola

Gustola Granola is made in Minneapolis and sold in several retail locations that focus on quality food. I've crunched my way through a plethora of bags / boxes of granola — Gustola Granola was good, and I mean REALLY good. Without resting my consumption, I ate a whole bag of the Pistachio Pumpkin Seed Coconut Cherry in less than 8 hours. Started with oatmeal and ended with dessert (sprinkled over ice cream).
